We all had something in mind.

A small campus,

Where recognition was an excuse for greeting,

Where professors knew your full name but called you by your first,

Where you could get to know the dean, somehow.

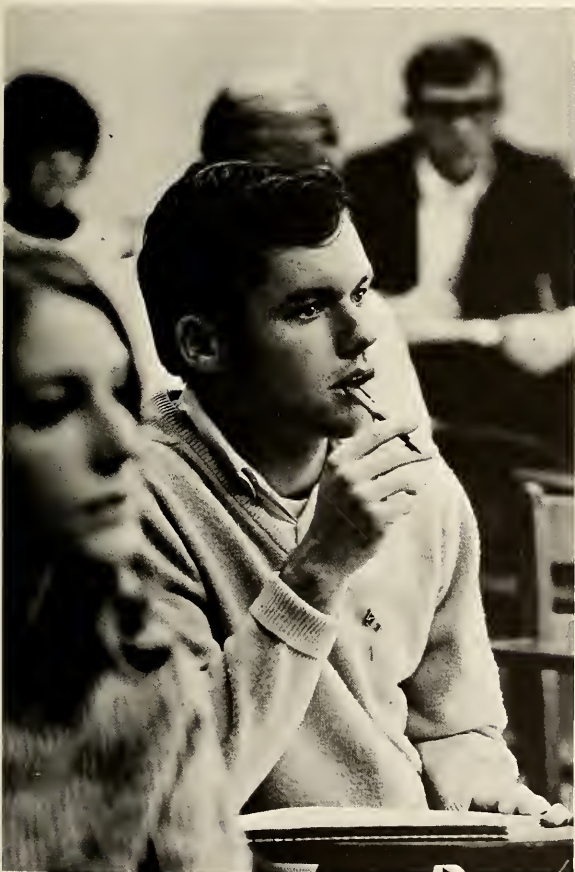

*A handsome college,
Where grass was not a place to keep off of,
And little yellow palms were not spaced in pots along sidewalks,
Where trees were big and green and natural,
Good for lying under, or wandering through, or thinking among.*

*An atmosphere of tradition,
Where buildings were more brick than glass,
Where the sidewalks were grey and uneven.*

*An academic community,
Where you could study if you need to,
Or wanted to,
Where grades were earned and not rewarded.*

*A town where the clerk remembered your shoe size,
Where the whole population was in the Christmas parade,
Where 5 p.m. did not mean cabs, cops, and carbon monoxide.
A climate where winter meant long sleeves, only,
And frost was something wonderful and rare.*

*All of this we were looking for;
Some of us found part of it,
Some of us overlooked what we found,
Some of us looked further.*

THE YEAR

SPRING 1968

Hatter Holiday

Hatter Holiday, 1968

Since Stetson's social emphasis is on the Fall Semester, Hatter Holiday provides an accent for an otherwise neglected portion of the year.

Activity and relaxation, competition and fellowship all find their way into the afternoon. Broken eggs, beauty contestants, bathing suits, boating and bagging are Hatter Holiday, and Hatter Holiday is Stetson in the Spring.

Mr. and Miss Stetson Contest, 1968

During Hatter Holiday, Mr. and Miss Stetson are chosen from the representatives of participating organizations.

The week preceeding the contest is filled with interviews, preparations and sittings with the photographer. Tensions produced by this seemingly endless week were climaxed with the announcement, Mr. and Miss Stetson for 1968-69 . . . Mr. Frank Thomas and Miss Dee Lewis.

"JOAN: . . . Dear my God, Forgive me, and keep me now to be myself. Forgive me and take me back for what I am. . . ."

Graduation

SUMMER

Pool Dedication

Fifty years of intermittent efforts to secure a swimming pool for Stetson were realized in August with its dedication by President Geren. The dedication ceremony featured University President, Dr. Paul Geren; Dean of Women, Miss Etter Turner; Student Government Secretary, Miss Marsha Gelbart; and Student Government Vice President, Jim Jarrard.

An unexpected end came to the afternoon when several of Stetson's administrators were thrown, fully clothed, into the new pool.

AUTUMN

Arrival

Orientation?

Who could get lost in a place this small?
... Naw, which door do I go in? ... No, that's my roommate's name ... It's a good thing we don't have curfew ... Sign out of what? ... Yes, I remember you from yesterday (maybe we'll become friends) ...

Rush

Cokes and smiles and conversation after party parties . . . smokers . . . hopeful looks on happy faces . . . kids . . . happiness and hurt . . . brotherhood and sisterhood . . . that's what life is all about . . .

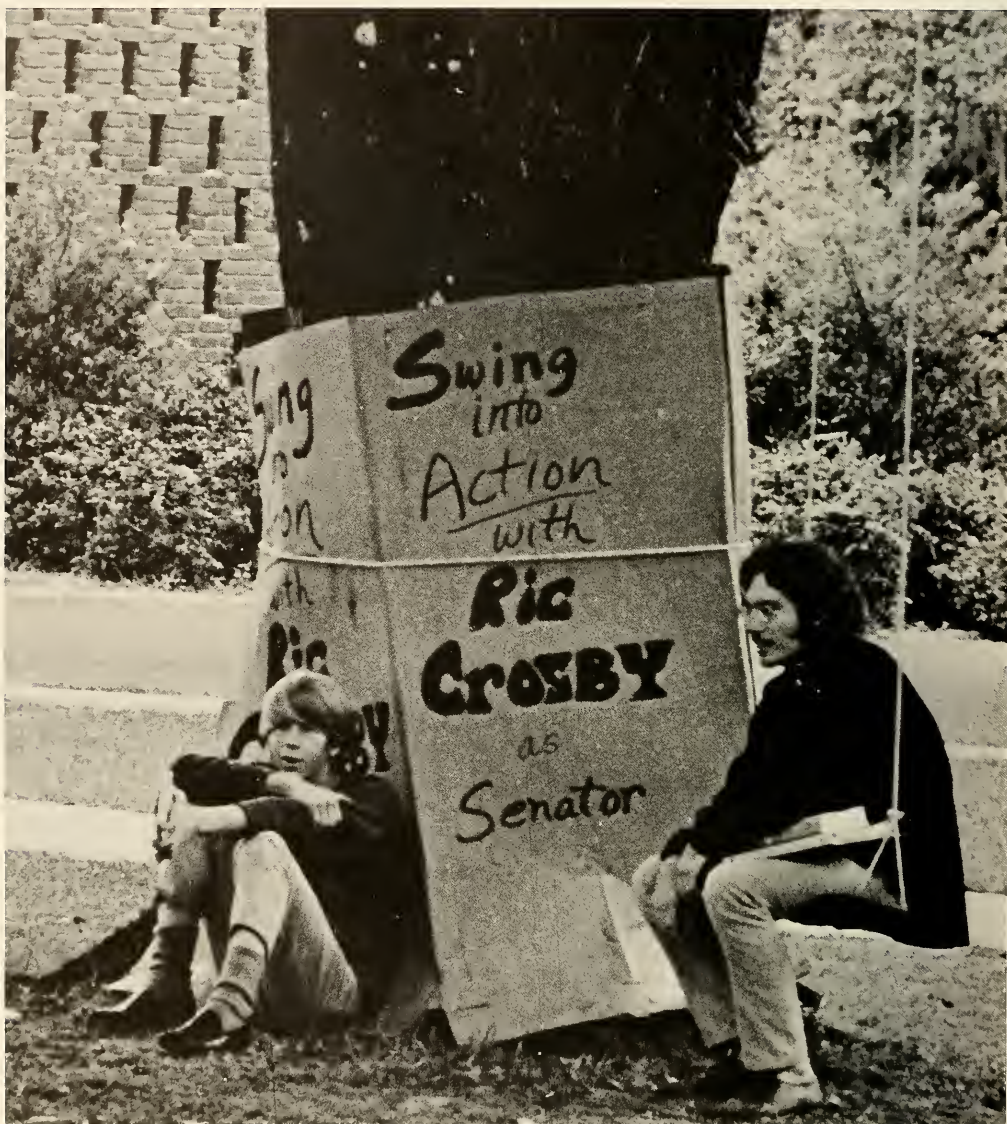

My Fair Lady

"Of course she matters. What do you think I've been doing all these months? What could possibly matter more than to take a human being and change her into a different being by creating a new speech for her? Why, it's filling up the deepest gulf that separates class from class, and soul from soul. She matters immensely."

There will always be a Scow

SGA Progress

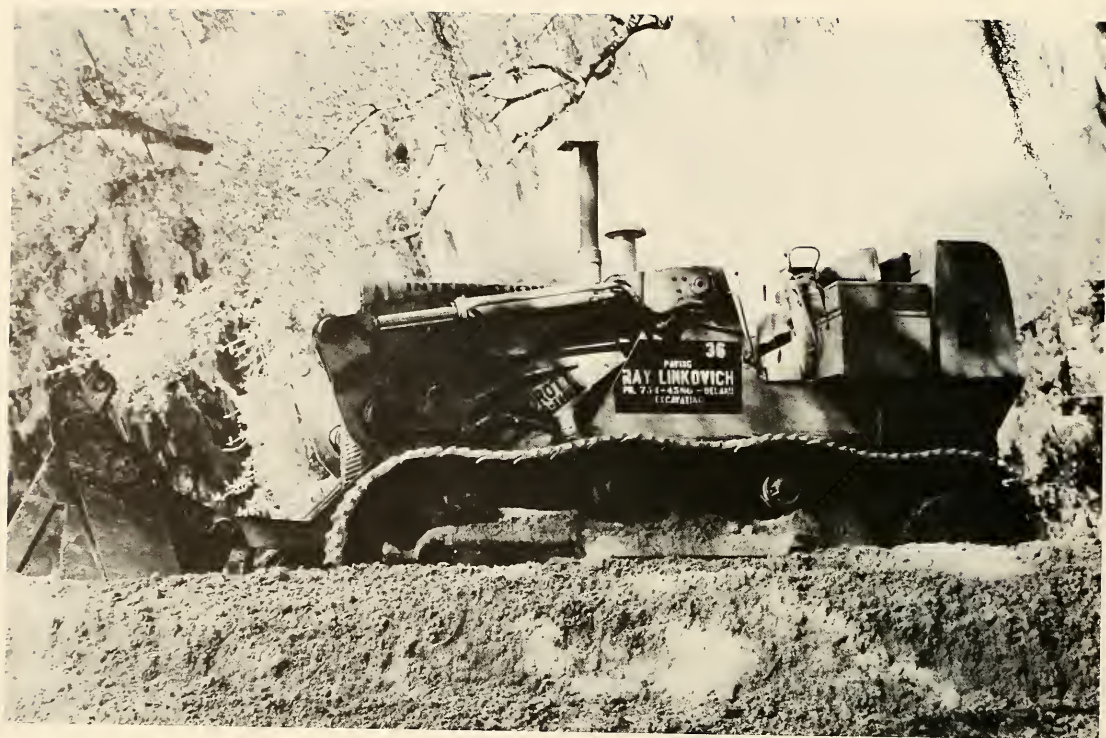

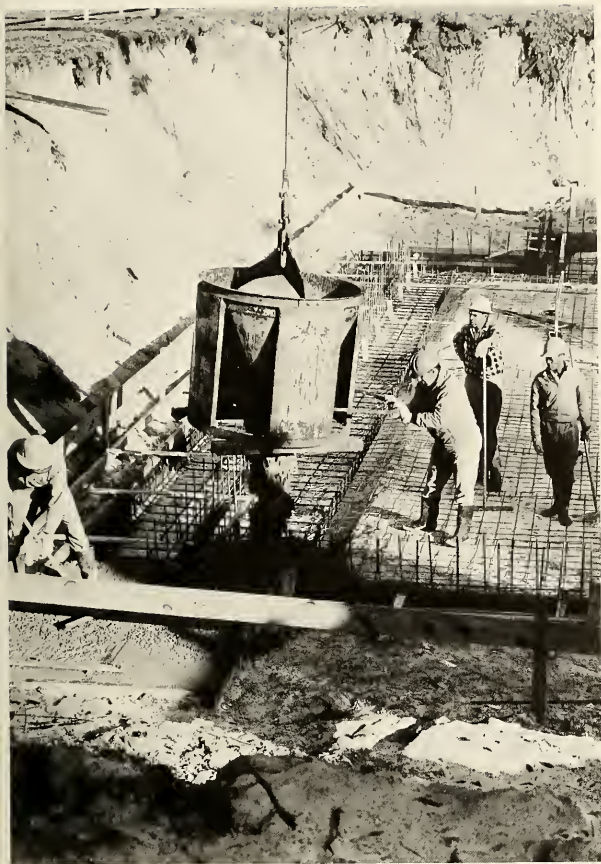

First you have to assume that something can be done. Then you do it. Results? . . . Not always fast or spectacular, but slowly . . . Extension of hours, off-campus housing next year, Friday night open house, cigarette machines, Elimination of strict probation by Men's Council, PR/301, more dances, petitions, Students on important committees, Students talking to trustees, Class attendance policies up to individual professors, Curriculum evaluation, record clubs, book exchanges, Better food (sometimes). . .

Some call it "enthusiasm," Some label it "student power," Some rightly talk about freedom, responsibility, and maturity, others call it "irresponsibility," Why not simply say, "We're trying to make the school we go to a better place to be?"

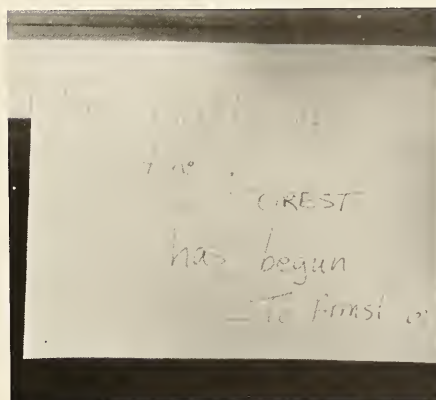

Bill Gaventa, President SGA

ACHIEVEMENTS

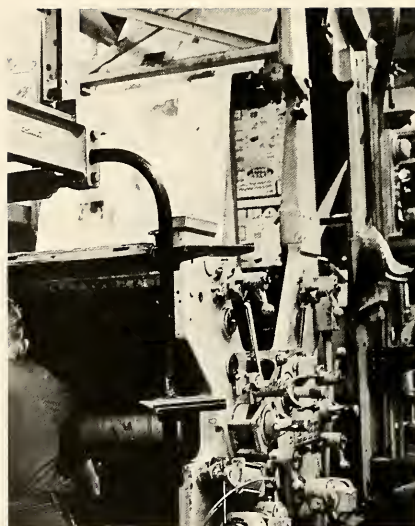

The President Reports

Portuguese law prohibited any full-scale press campaign of this kind, so the two sides agreed to limit their efforts to the publication of short notices in the press. The Portuguese government, however, refused to publish any notice of the kind that might be considered an advertisement for the party. The Portuguese government also refused to publish any notice of the kind that might be considered an advertisement for the party.

THE RECORD

DUPONT BALL LIBRARY

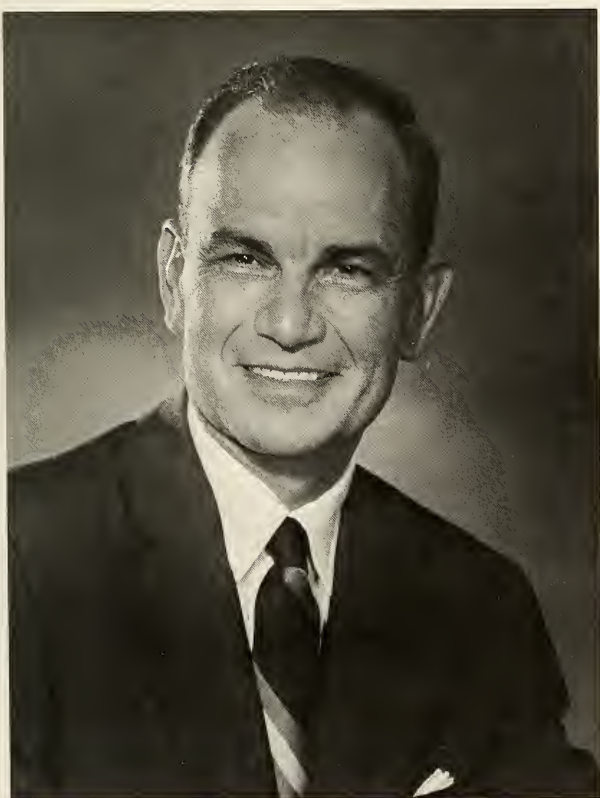

ADMINISTRATION

President

Dr. Paul F. Geren

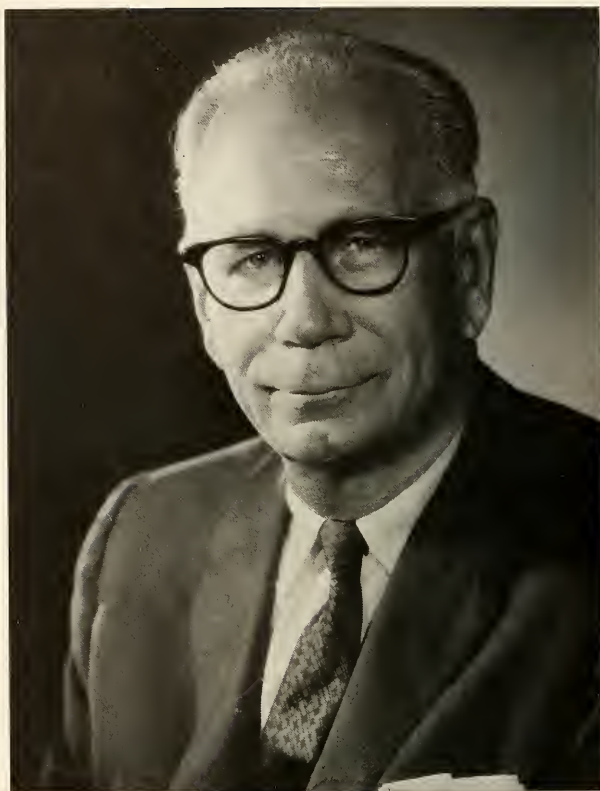

For the most part, students don't see what transpires behind the closed doors of this office, and perhaps they've only seen at a distance the green carpet that you're almost afraid to walk on, or the big glass coffee table that you're afraid to touch. But they can see him at 6:00 in the morning running around the track with a bunch of students, or somehow finding the inner fortitude to eat lunch in the commons. As president, he's new on the job, and yet he's had to take some strong positions. You don't always agree with him, but you have to respect him: Paul Geren, our sophomore president.

Chancellor

J. Ollie Edmunds

He graduated from Stetson, and was president for twenty years, but he still won't retire. He still cares about a little university in a small town in central Florida. He must prefer people to redwood trees, and quality to quantity. In twenty years here he made twenty dollars, but earned a million times more. He has seen a lot happen at Stetson, and wants to see more. Thank you, J. Ollie Edmunds, for staying around and caring.

Dr. Earl Edington
Chairman of the Board

Trustees

Dr. Edmunds, Dr. Geren, Gov. Carlton, Dr. Edington.

Back Row: Mr. Henderson, Mr. Gurney, Mr. Harold Bennett, Dr. Knight, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Monn, Mr. Carlton, Jr., Dr. Parker, Mr. Blalock, Mr. Flippo, Mr. Clapp, Mr. Stenstrom, Mr. Morris, Mr. Harshaw. Front Row: Mr. Reid, Dr. Edmunds, Mr. Ferrell, Dr. Geren, Gov. Carlton, Dr. Edington, Mr. Jorrard, Dr. Coleman, Mr. Robinson.

Dr. John E. Johns

Vice-President in Charge of Finance

"We have the type of University that will survive. The things we want to do will make us a better college. . . . Experimentation in our case is necessary, because money will flow to a progressive school, rather than a needy institution."

Dean of the School of Business Administration

Edward C. Furlong, Jr.

"Stetson's Business School students are above the average for most business schools. We don't anticipate any expansion as far as physical plant goes, but we are constantly seeking to improve our faculty and curriculum in order to keep pace with the growing demand for business school graduates and the general excellence of this university."

Paul T. Langston

"We feel that we want to be small here at Stetson in the Music School. This way we can give a personal touch to the student. My idea is that there needs to be in the Southeast a small undergraduate music school of truly high quality. At the present there isn't an outstanding one, unless it is us. We can gain this goal with our efforts along with the new music school."

Dean of the School of Music

Dean of the Sciences

Robert Chauvin

. . . The sciences at Stetson are reaching the threshold of excellence . . . Stetson is well known for its science program, which is unique among Baptist institutions in our part of the country. There is no reason to believe that it will not continue to be a plus for the Stetson of tomorrow.

Eliot D. Allen

. . . One of the chief joys of being at Stetson--besides the kind of students we have!--is the privilege of working with a very unusual, gifted, and dedicated faculty. We have been fortunate enough to keep teachers here whom we literally cannot afford in terms of the salaries they are worth. Two things I specially hope for the future are these: first, that we can reward our faculty much better; but, second, that we will always continue to have a faculty so good that it is better than we can afford.

Dean of Humanities

Dean of the Law School

Richard T. Dillon

... During the administration of the former dean, Justice Harold L. Sebring, the Law School made remarkable progress. Stetson University, alumni, and friends, and supporters of the College of Law can take great pride of the record of achievement of the school and in the national reputation it has earned under his leadership. I will make every effort to continue the administration of the college in the fine tradition already established by him.

Ted Banks

... I've only been here a short while, and before I came I only knew of Stetson vaguely. Stetson has its problems, and we must deal with them honestly. There are exciting possibilities and the potential is here. We must take an open stance on what a university is, question our goals and aims, and redesign them to keep pace with our potential.

Assistant to President in Development

Assistant to the President

William R. Baggett

I do feel we have a great future here at Stetson. We are becoming much more involved. We can't be static, we have to be receptive to new ideas. Innovation is the key word. We are going to have to stay alive.

George Borders

My new job involves more than the former one, but as long as I can work with the students I am happy. As far as Stetson itself goes, I think it is becoming stronger. I might add that I think that Stetson has had the finest soccer team it has ever had in its 12 year history.

Dean of Men

Dean of Women

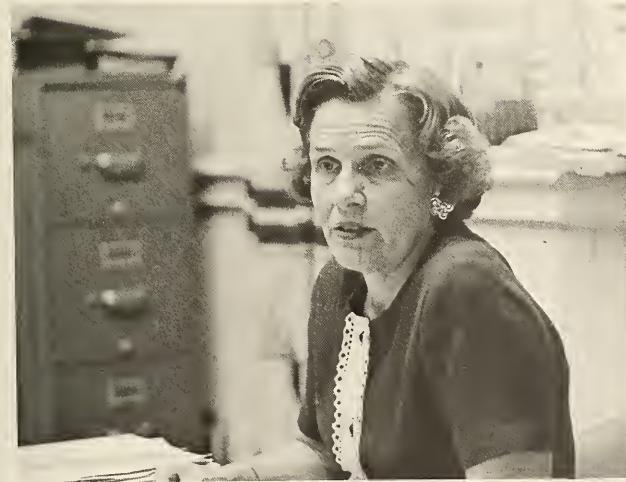

Etter Turner

Through the years Stetson Students have shown a unique quality in their leadership . . . In the years called "apathetic" on many campuses, there were always active student leaders at Stetson who were willing to take the time for discussion and involvement . . . The mature and responsible students will continue, I believe, to be involved with faculty and administration in striving to create an atmosphere in which students can truly learn.

Mary Edna Walls

I don't see at Stetson a precarious position . . . Changing from some of the ideas which we held in the past shows that we are interested. Stetson adds the personal touch to education, bearing with the students until they mature.

Assistant Dean of Women

Comptroller of the University

H. Graves Edmondson

Despite momentary frustrations, I have enjoyed my job very much. I have found much excitement in working with our students . . . I am sure the University will have to meet pressures of rising cost, but we are always seeking new approaches and new ways to find funds for our operations.

Barbara Rowe

Students today are much more aware than those of years past. They know of the innerworkings of a university and want to help it in every way they can. Students are becoming less and less transient and this concept provides exciting possibilities.

Registrar

Director of Admissions

Gary Meadows

Actually, all of us at Stetson hope to upgrade its activity. We have always been somewhat selective, choosing the Student who is nationally above average. We are not I've League, but regionally Stetson stacks up very well . . . In general, the prospects for Stetson are very bright.

O. C. Allen

Financial aid at Stetson is a million dollar business . . . The Federal Government entry into the program . . . completely revolutionized the entire concept. Our greatest anxiety is the distribution of Federal funds.

Director of Finacial Aid

Director of Guidance Center

George Hood

Stetson must be influenced by other institutions, because we cannot exist in a vacuum. We certainly need to examine our structure and experiment. The experimentation of one generation is the boredom of the next.

George Painter

My concern is to develop an alumni program which will keep our alums informed about the University and committed to the educational objectives of the academic community. This will result, hopefully, in stronger alumni support for the University and their personal involvement in the educational concerns of their local communities.

Director of Alumni Affairs

Librarian

Dudley Yates

Not only should one be able to point with pride to the beautiful library building, but also to the quality collection housed within. The latter is not yet a fact . . .

Richard Moreland

The Stetson Graduate almost without exception is well prepared for graduate school. Not only in the Ph.D., programs, but also in fields of medicine, law and dentistry, to name a few. Our graduates have the basic tools to compete favorably with any other student.

Dedication

*How do you. . . map concern? . . .
 translate love? . . . color courage? . . .
 draw kindness? . . . paint pain? . . .
 sketch loyalty? . . . diagram involment? . . .
 blueprint vision? . . .*

You live a day in the life of Dean Etter Turner. . .

*We searched, and in part succeeded.
We found ivy roots on Flager Hall
And the laundry room in Carson.
We found Roloids after every Commons meal
And Alka-Seltzer after every Saturday night.*

*We heard of soccer games
And named referees at basketball games.
We walked in Gillespie Museum,
And soon walked out.*

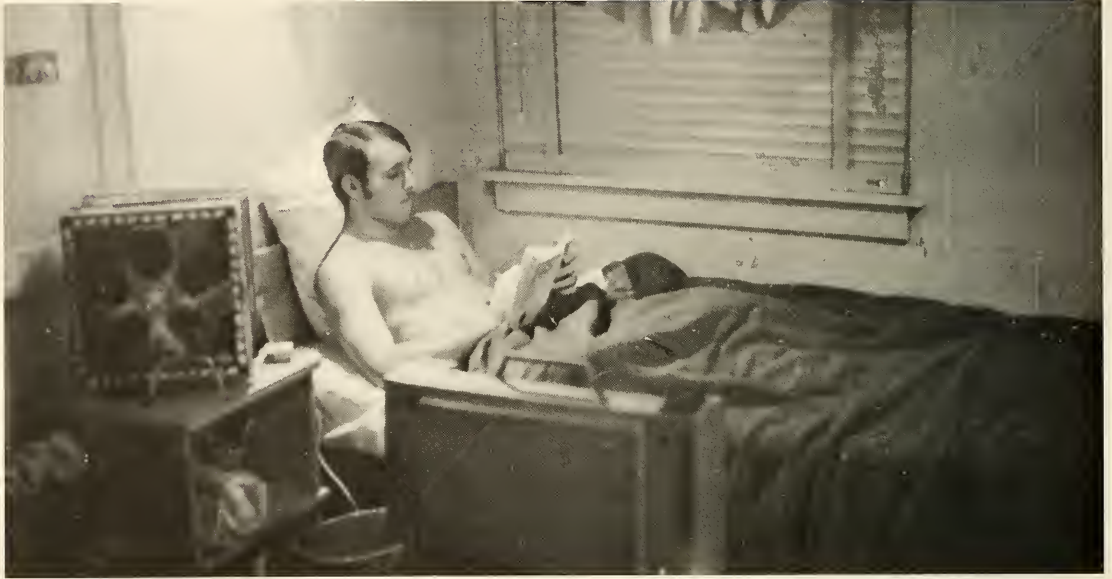

*We studied ahead for finals,
A day ahead.*

*There was Judy Collins singing in the Hat Rack,
With a new popcorn machine.*

There was a special on Ipana toothpaste in the bookstore.

*There were stolen umbrellas on rainy days.
There were wet students who used to own umbrellas.
There were number 2 pencils for g-113 test,
And bell-shaped curves.*

*There were girls who had "other plans" for Friday nights,
And girls who had no plans for any night.*

*Stetson was girls, and guys, and events,
And whatever else was worth remembering.*

*Everything pleasant and everything sad gave us something to remember.
Stetson was, and is, a menagerie of memories.*

*We learned to study, to question,
To grow, to become,
To live, to love.
These were important.
They should be remembered.
They will be.*
